May PROGRAM by: Tim Bull "Toad Fly"

Equipment and Trips

Tim presented some information on the new E-Votec reels for this year, and two new Loop fly rods. Then he discussed his new adventure in television and fly fishing. Two place in particular were in North Carolina and Texas. He told of how the day starts and ends with the cameras, he also was telling about the SD cards we use in our digital cameras and how you can lose your data. The Toad Fly is having a face lift be sure to stop in, also they have fly tying on Tuesday nights 7PM to 9PM. Thanks to Martin again for a great program.

Norfork River
March 21st, 2014

The turbines at the North Fork River have been at least one generator mostly during the morning and off in the afternoon then on in the evening hours. Minimum Flow has taken affect and is a great enhancement to the North Fork River. The increase in cold water and oxygen in the river will substantially improve the overall health of the trout. Wade fisherman can still access their honey holes and boaters can navigate more areas of the river. Lake Norfork is now at pool level 553.74 feet. You can access the Bull Shoals Water Release recording (from the Army Corp of Engineers) at 1-870-431-5311.
